*As children, we look to the world with awe.
We see life as a miracle; not knowing why.
We center our lives on home — where we love and learn.*

We seek to grasp eternal kinship with God. We see hope as "the flower of desire," looking to the future for that certain star.

*Through education, we develop our minds;
we set goals in life.*

As we grow, we part with our toys and open the doors to knowledge.

REACH OUT FOR KNOWLEDGE

*Man cannot live at peace without planning and organizing
 Our community fulfills that need.
 Never stopping, it is forever changing, evolving,
 building for the future.
 We clean out creeks, we fight pollution.
 We do innumerable little tasks of community service.
 Through new traffic signals
 and residential expansion, we better our community.*

REACH OUT FOR COMMUNITY IMPROVEMENT

*A friend is someone with whom we share life's adventures, a person to whom we give
and ask nothing in return, for friendship returns all We seek in friendship someone to whom we may share our inner secrets*

*In troubled hours and periods of depression, a friend makes our living worthwhile
He builds up our spirits
when we feel our world is falling apart*

*He defends us when others
try to belittle us*

REACH OUT FOR FRIENDSHIP

*From chaos, man established order;
a time when he can reflect his thoughts
In times of tranquility and silence, we look back upon the past confusion;
the building,
the development of our society.
We seek escape from pressures
of life: tests, papers, personal obligations.
We seek beauty in nature . . .
a humble shack, a quiet stream.
We look for beauty to quiet
our troubled minds
We search for serenity.
REACH OUT FOR PEACE*

*As a man learns,
he questions his nature.
During the process of maturing,
his world is continually changing — rearranging.
Doctrines of the ages come under careful scrutiny as man discards what is no longer beneficial to his well being.
This process is difficult;
forcing him to put aside the common as he yearns for something great, something unique.
In this quest, man needs compassion,
love, and something more . . .
understanding.*

REACH OUT FOR UNDERSTANDING

Involvement stressed by GBHS principals

Striving to reach out to all students, administration set goal of helping students to take care of own needs

Mr. J. Howard Clayton, principal for the 5th year, set up new curriculum, introduced mini courses for next year. Half semester classes offered to give students opportunity to explore a variety of areas

Confronted with underclassmen attendance, discipline, Mr. Robert Burek worked on plan to organize and establish work-study program for drop-outs. Duties included job as assistant football coach, working directly with students

Second assistant principal Mr. Kenneth Tucker responsible for upperclassmen attendance, discipline
Close contact with students maintained to fulfill job
Program initiated to provide teacher-in-service training program

Mr. Ed Barney, in charge of student activities, student council, drug program Entire staff concerned with total involvement of all students

Guidance counselors work to solve students' problems

Still hampered by lack of homerooms, split sessions, 8 counselors advised over 2,000 students. Opening of school, dissatisfied students flooded guidance office seeking minor schedule changes

Patient counselors attempted to satisfy everyone. Concerned seniors received counseling, SAT, ACT tests, college and scholarship applications, attended college guest visitations

Conducted computer guidance test aided freshmen in selecting future courses

Enormity of scheduling undertaken by teachers who guided students, left counselors more time to deal with students' problems

New ideas on counseling implemented, Mrs. Guyor, Mr. Misner attended two day counselor's convention — new insight gained on counseling

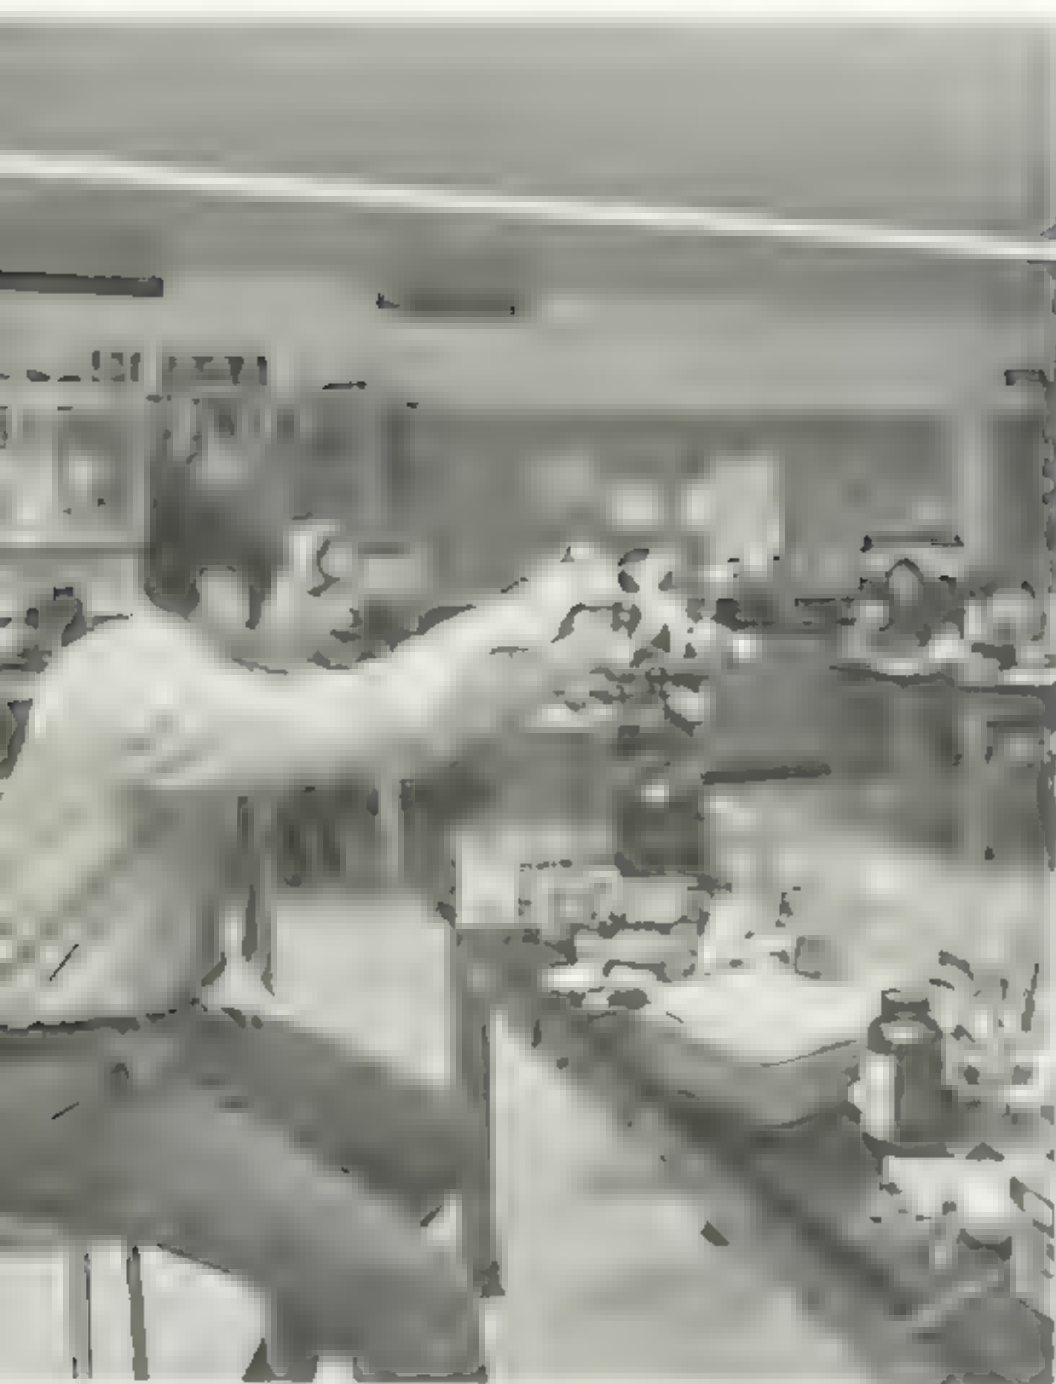

Optimist Career Day, 85 seniors glimpsed professional business world with employees for half day, almost 40 careers observed

Female enrollment increases 282% in physics classes

Vectors, complicated problems, challenged physics students.

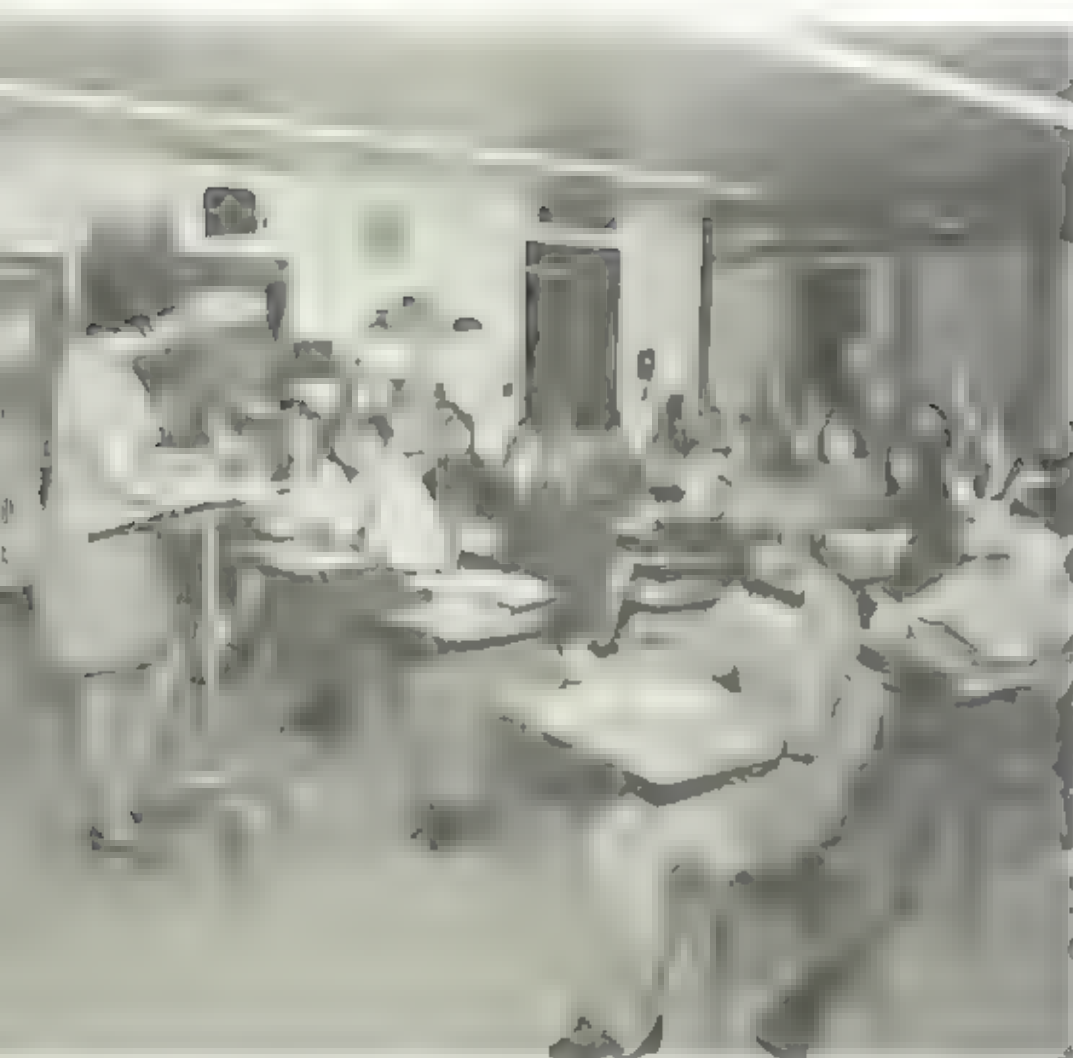

Feminine topics demanded equal time in once male dominated conversation; girls invaded physics classes; enrollment increased by fantastic 282 percent

Density of human body experiment required student guinea pigs to submerge in barrel of water. Avogadro's number, the slide rule, chemical games and crossword puzzles were additional souvenirs of chemistry course "Having fun while learning" motto of advanced biology students; emphasis placed on labs; detailed experiments completed on microbiology, plant growth, chicken embryology High caliber student scientists studied different projects ranging from electronics to cancer research in science seminar

Green thumbs prevailed, nature dominated west area of school, agriculture, horticulture and conservation students maintained lightcourt shrubbery; beautified Grand Blanc, planted trees donated by Genesee Nursery around railroad viaduct.

New English teachers confused; "Old ones were meaner," declared Mr. Ed Wright Underclassmen encountered previously used literature as well as new experiences in Basic Communications I and II. International recipes used as a basis for discovering cultural history. Studies included recently adopted Robert's Grammar, poetry, mythology, and short stories. Students read modern plays and novels, Exodus, A Separate Peace, and Lord of the Flies; opposed to Romeo and Juliet, The Odyssey, and Great Expectations. Introduction to Gothic novel . . . Bram Stoker's Dracula. Interpretation in film version of classic starred Bela Lugosi Further skill developed by usage of biographies, autobiographies; ups and downs to writing compositions Highlights of year: students chose, organized and made a filmstrip themselves; others edited and distributed own newspaper, The Paper Wad. Importance of mass communication clearly emphasized.

1969-70 Forensics team claims State Championship

Drama students skipped, hopped, and jumped across stage; portrayed all types of characters, pantomimed to musical hits. Learning fundamentals enabled classes to present one act plays.

Area children enjoyed play staged by advanced dramatists.

Shy, timid students stammered and stuttered over first speeches. Confidence gained through applause . . . loss of stage fright. Practice resulted in remarkable improvements in speaking. Using techniques, tapes were made and sent to elementary schools, helping children with reading problems.

Weekend trips to Saturday tournaments; four rounds of debate; both affirmative and negative. Varsity debaters' year topic . . . "federally controlled air pollution programs."

"Tough competition but very strong debate team," stated sponsor, Mrs. Barbara Beckers. Hard work paid off when 1969-70 Forensics team, coached by Mrs. Linda Deretich, won state championship . . . a record which only can be tied.

Beauchamp, Taylor create Technical Geometry text book

Practical applications of computation skills helped improve and strengthen speed and accuracy with whole numbers, fractions, decimals in General Math. Sets, variables, polynomials, factoring along with mathematical games; three dimensional tic-tac-toe, yahtzee, and bingo, highlighted Algebra I Practical application of basic geometric properties goal of new course, technical geometry. No text book met goals of course therefore, Mr. Lawrence Beauchamp and Mr Larry Taylor reorganized, added, deleted ideas, and wrote into text form

High interest maintained to meet demands of society

Variety of classes offered for all levels and backgrounds

General math-Algebra I combined program initiated to prepare students for Algebra

Problem parties help in Probability and Statistics

Circular functions, graphs and inverses, vectors, and complex numbers explored in trigonometry courses; learned formal programming techniques and applications to use later in problem solving.

"Problem parties" and informal approach gave students in Probability and Statistics a better understanding. Graphs, measures for reporting and analyzing data studied. Random sampling to statistically analyze drugs used by G.B. students; applied past knowledge to current issues.

Theory emphasized in logarithms, rational, irrational, complex numbers — material used in selective Algebra II classes.

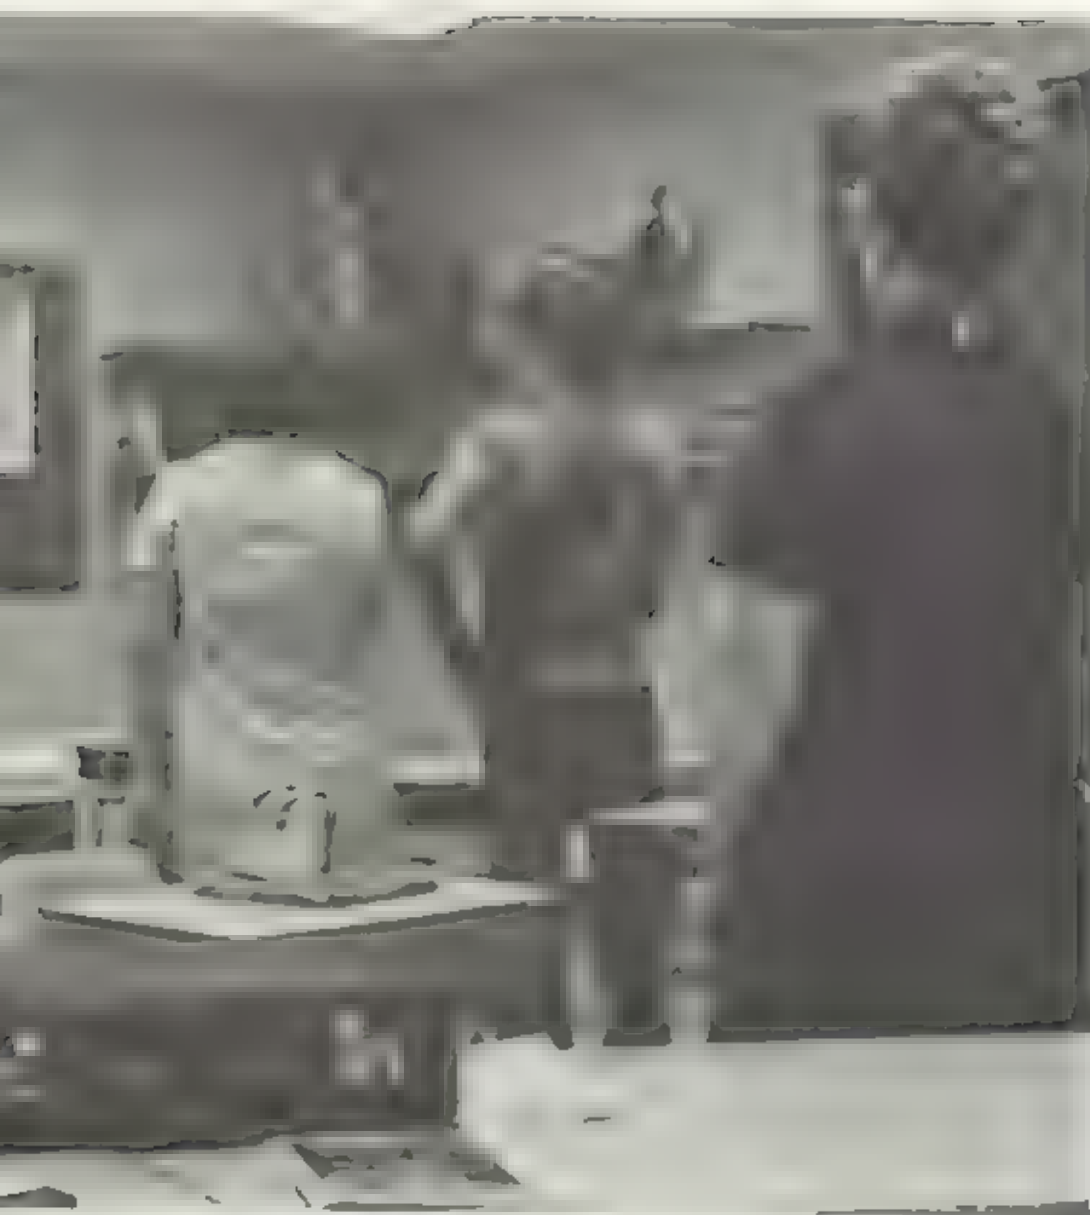

Intensive courses prepared students for college math.

New course, an introduction to computer, in study for GBHS.

Advanced Geometry exposed students to college classroom methods and practices.

Wood refinishing projects develop handicraft skills

Emphasis on vocational and personal living experience goals for students in Special Education. Field trips made to possible places of employment in preparation for future jobs. Thirty day rotating work projects in GB exposed many types of occupations; paid job experience, requirement for graduation. Much emphasis placed on individual instruction in academic areas, reading and math. Three hours a week, devoted to wood refinishing projects: antique radios, chairs, picture frames, gun cabinets, and tables. Relevant drug unit along with speakers, film strips, and posters presented facts and statistics in various ways. Recreational participation in bowling and golf headed activities. Three day fishing trip enjoyed by Mr. Roger Griffith and male students. Pre-driver education, speaking, and banking familiarized students with future living.

Co-op students explore new job opportunities

Providing job opportunities for high school students, Co-op lured over 100 students; many earned credit hours for school, made their own money at the same time. Employers tolerated errors of novice secretaries, serving as receptionists, typists, girl-friends. Potential pathologists invaded hospitals, nurses aides took pulses, cheered lonesome patients. Trade industries accepted apprentice printers, mechanics, computer operators for salaried jobs. Cooks flipped pancakes, retail salesmen waited on customers. Students utilized knowledge and tips offered on the job by employers. All enlisted experience for future vocations; Co-op coordinators: Miss Ellen Crawford, secretarial; Mr. Walt Hungerford, industrial; Mrs. Maureen Hite, medical; Mr. John McGinnis, retail sales.

Fifth year language students study independently

Guten Tag! Buenos dias! Bonjour!
 Rooky language students stammered first foreign words. Frequent visits to language lab, repetition of grammatical forms instilled unfamiliar words in students' minds Variety emphasized
 Flying whipped cream, matadores, squeaky violin added excitement to humorous skits Ambitious French III students wrote newspaper, presented original Christmas play Mispronunciations, misuse of dictionaries in impromptu speeches amused classes
 Spanish students increased fluency, debated conversed in panel discussions — all in Spanish French topics, Spanish artists and musicians, Roman emperors and German composers.
 Study of music, art, and history gave cultural aspect to language classes understanding beyond word meanings obtained 5th year French and Spanish students researched independently, haunted library for materials, became own educators.

Variety of new classes added to Home Economics Department

Blue, green, and various colors of pie crust added a tremor of excitement to ordinary baking procedures. Outdoor cooking, nutrition, food preservation, paved way for future chefs and housewives

Dull pinking shears forced to cut wool, corduroy, and cotton. Lingerie construction turned out professional undergarments in Home Economics I. Students in Clothing Services did "their own thing" by designing fabric through means of tie dyeing

Field trips to furniture stores added depth to Interior Decorating. Study of actual floor plans, antiques, color schemes, house designs based on "learning by doing."

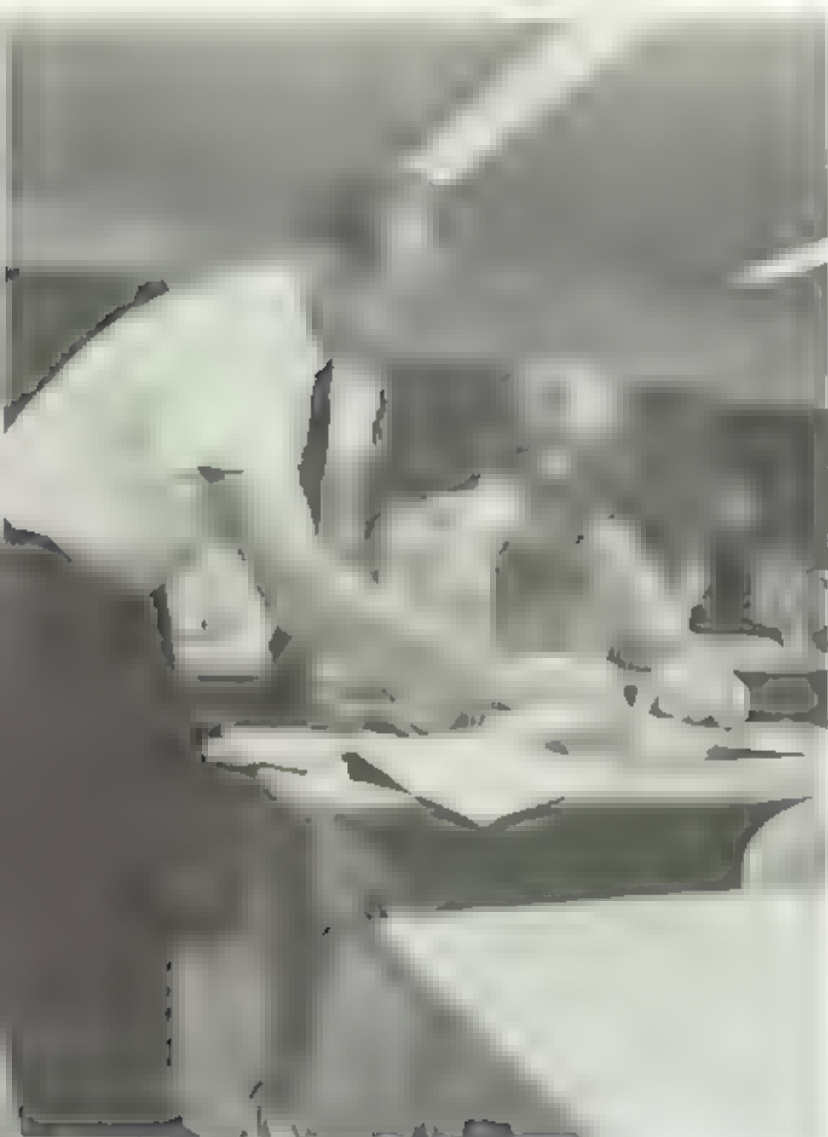

Personal Development prepared girls for later jobs in life, proper etiquette, working girl's money, and living away from home. Career unit with speakers from different fields; one day simulated job interviews with personnel representatives completed course. Class projects investigated numerous types of consumer problems dealing with income, spending, and financial obligations of managing a home.

Kinetic sculptures created through unusual mediums

Artistic minds reeled with unique ideas; cardboard boxes, discarded metal scraps transformed into mobiles, sculptures, new medium, melted and cracked plexiglass incorporated into designs.

Frustrated students successfully constructed sculptures, expressed emotions through motion and light.

Nimble fingers wove and knotted unusual patterns; created wall hangings, belts, rugs.

Spinning centrifugal castor yielded symmetrical silver rings; stones, carefully polished and ground completed jewelry.

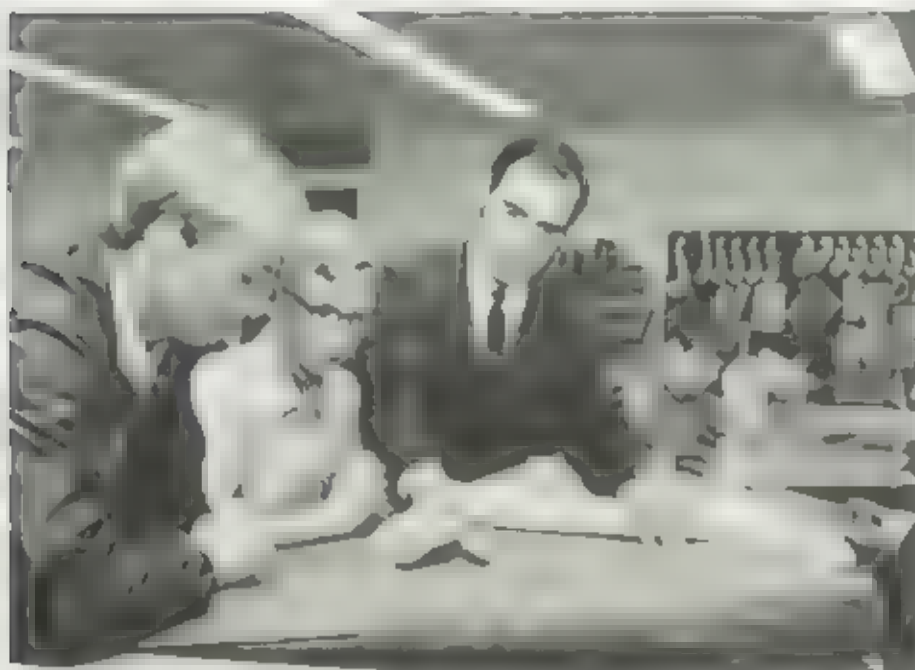

Pungent shellac and turpentine odors permeated classrooms, spattered ink from silkscreens presented enormous cleaning job.

Patient students carved unresponsive wood blocks. Resulting prints donated to bridge parties, raised money for GBHS drug center.

Ceramics, copper enameling, contour line drawing, acrylic and oil painting rounded out course.

Power mechanics remodels car for Homecoming parade

Drafting, shop classes hummed with activity; saws bit into wood, sparks flashed; students developed industrial skills. Highlight of year: power mechanics novices tinkered with unfamiliar machines; successfully remodeled 1967 Buick for Homecoming parade; built Model T Ford. Accumulated knowledge compiled in research manual covered all aspects of combustion and power. Student architects designed fantastic low cost homes. Learning fundamentals, drafting students absorbed graphic language; old equipment replaced by drafting machine, sliding parallels. Electricity students reassembled tangled wires into circuits, house wiring samples. Through experiments, projects, transistor theory and basic radio emphasized in electronics. Amid wood shavings, woodworkers learned industrial processes; constructed tables, archery equipment, other useful home items. Provisions made in department budget permitted new textbooks to be purchased; learning techniques updated.

Tremendous undertaking: successful 'Lark' performance

Under the direction of Miss Carolyn Mawby, the A'Capella Choir achieved prominence in the school, community, and state for excellence in quality.

With the assistance of Mrs. Kathleen Carter, the choir performed "The Lark," an ambitious project requiring the learning of numerous French and Latin songs.

Lead role of Joan of Arc played by senior, Nancy Yenshaw.

Traditional Thanksgiving concert, at Faith Lutheran Church, and Christmas concert at Holy Family Church, featured classical music of the season.

A February concert at McGrath Junior High promoted the high school music department.

An overnight trip to Muskegon for an exchange concert and a performance at Central Michigan University highlighted March activities.

Finishing the year, the choir presented its musical, "West Side Story."

Wadsworth sets .96 ERA; Big 9 taps 3 starters

Outstretched arms, quick throws to first, and repeated one-two-three innings were the combined actions of what Coach Joe Pitock acclaimed as, "The best team in GB history." With Clio as the toughest competition, the GB squad posted a 17-4 record to take top league honors. Bob Delaney captained the team, led them to a record .332 team batting average. 'Cats elected pitcher Dennis Wadsworth as the Most Valuable Player, compiled nine wins in league play, and a .96 ERA in ten games. Big Nine coaches voted Delaney, Wadsworth, and Bob Wood to first team All Conference. Sam Baumgartner, and Carter Thomas placed on second team. Honorable mentions went to Craig Gerard, Mark Ranville, Dennis Rich, and Dave Wilderotter.

Offensive attack proved key to victory, 175 total runs scored in 21 games, 134 in league competition. Team swept a double hitter from Flint Central for best performance of the year.

Monthly meetings unite all cheering squads

Sponser Mrs. Carol Stubbs, assisted the monthly meetings. Cheerleaders attended clinics at other schools, learned new cheers, songs, skits, and cheers. Frosh cheerleaders represented 4 different grade schools, brought together different ideas and opinions. Co-captains, Libby Moss and Gail Suski J.V.'s entertained football players with skit at the football banquet. "Sent to Florida" for oranges to make sack lunches for basketball players last away game. Co-captains, Cathy Benkert and Sue Dewey Swim team cheerleaders delighted boys with homecooked meals before swim meet, entertained them with skits while they ate; Related their Christmas spirit by decorating the pool for the Christmas Relays; excitedly represented a great team at state. Captain Cathy Finn led the squad. These girls demonstrated spirit and pride for G.B.H.S. athletes.

Jumpsuits as uniforms cause controversy

A tradition broken; 6 juniors and 1 senior composed Varsity cheerleading squad. Co-captains, Mel Michaud and Mary Ellen Hughes. Varsity cheerleaders sacrificed summer afternoons remaking the Bobcat Den with new signs, repainting tables and munching on MacDonald's hamburgers. Again Varsity Football players found personalized signs on their homes before Homecoming game. Cheerleaders sold school T-shirts and Booster Buttons to make way for next year's squad. Signs found again covering the boys' locker room for the last football and basketball games. Many hours spent getting enough nerve and courage to try new stunts off the mini-tramp. Arguments all in fun, to see who could think of the best pun to put on run-thru signs. Cheerleaders organized pep rallies with the help of Pep Club and a skit booklet. Yelling enthusiastically, painting frantically . . . They ended the year with lower voices and a better understanding of what cheerleading's all about.

MVP Gricius named to Big 9 first team

Bobcats "get it together" with team balance, good depth and a strong bench. Variety of starters, including two sophomores, Larry Boon and Ken Smith gave Coach Creasey a team with depth for each game.

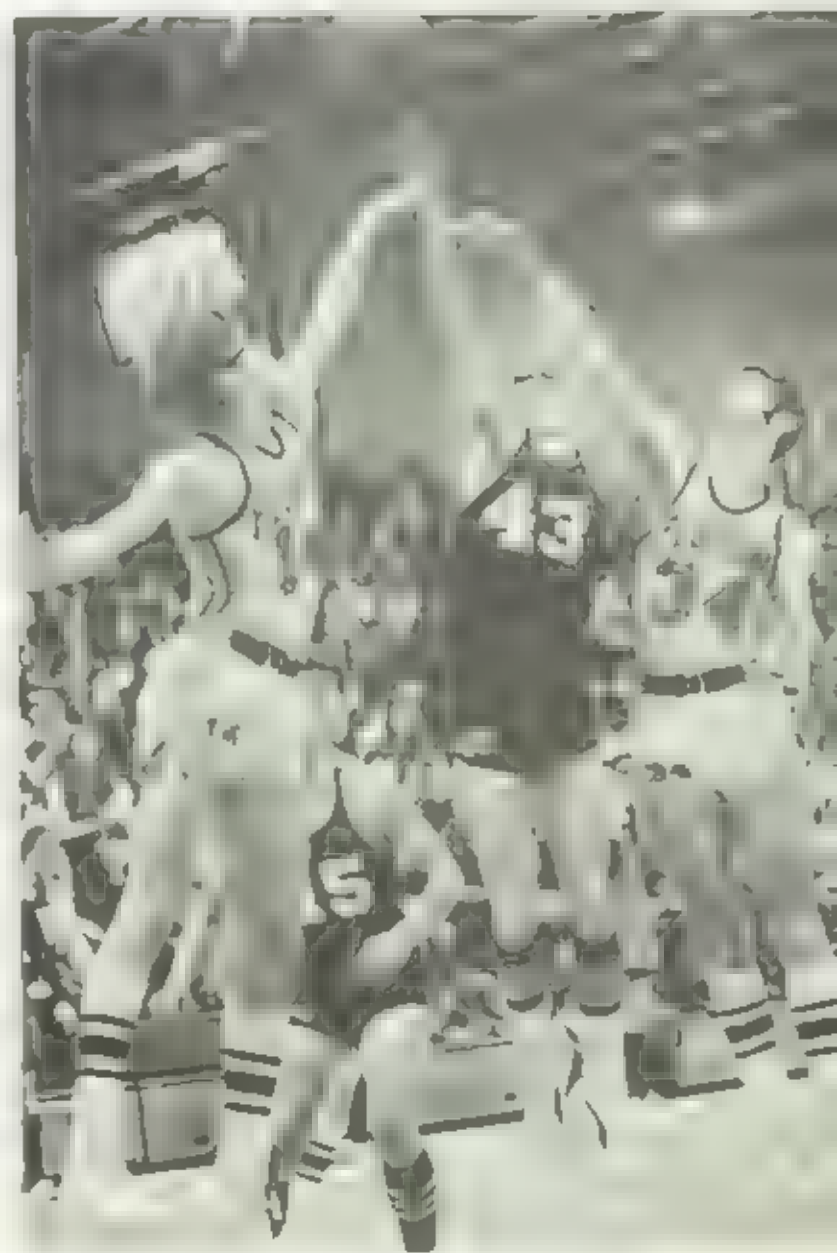

The team was led by two real "fighters," Dave Beckham, a pull-through when games got to close for comfort and Craig Gerard, never a quitter, always out to win, a lifesaver in the victory over Kearsley.

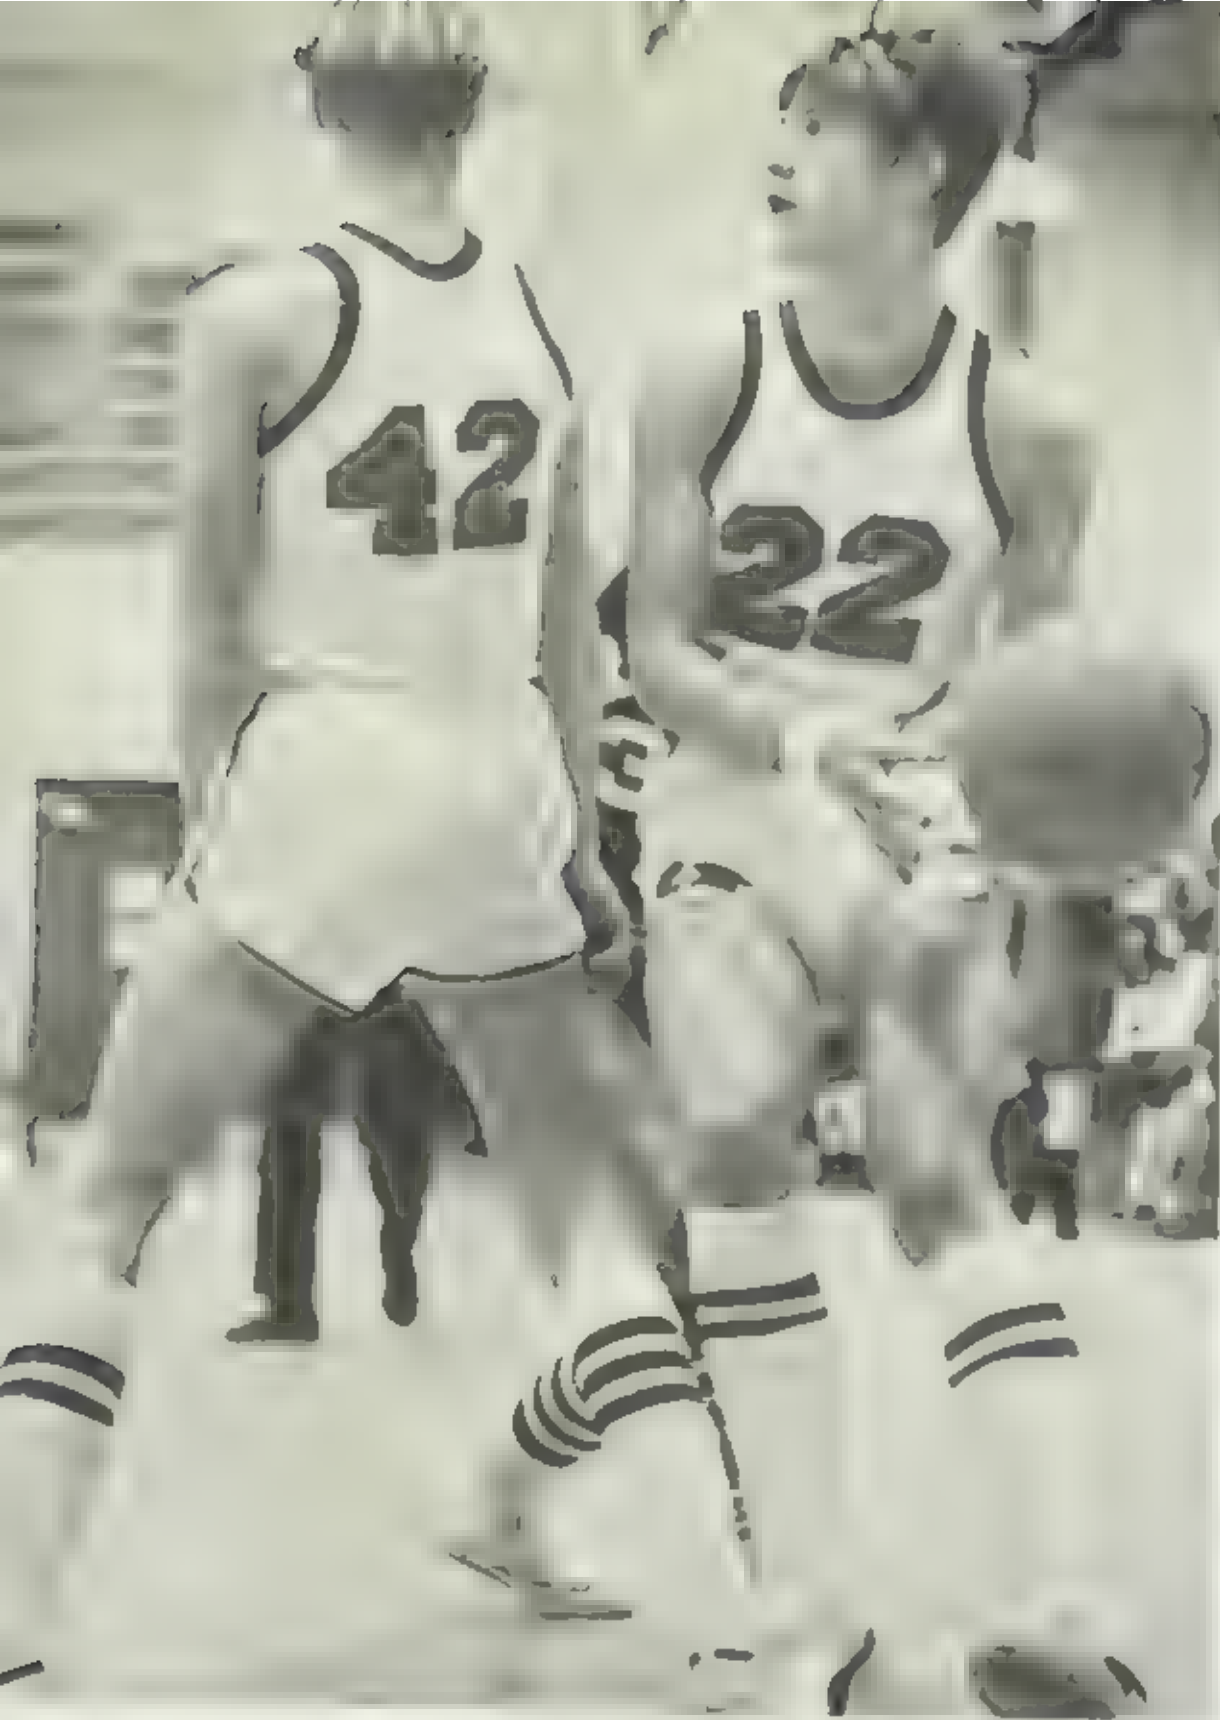

3 other senior cagers included Chris "Harry" Auten, a hustler with the ability to ignite the spark to get the fire going, Sam Baumgartner, great on the fast breaks; Tom "Gabby" Conquest, a hard-working fellow with lots of spunk. Junior Rock Gricius, who dominated the boards, made All-League and was voted MVP. Cager George Hamo looked upon for his consistency in double figures.

"Louie" Blessing, "Ricky" Carpenter, "Billy" Johnson and "Marky" Ranville, members of the "White Squad," sparked the team onto victories

Prospects of a league title

'Cats compiled a 12-5 slate

Varsity cagers opened season with a loss to Southwestern, 84-62. Battling Bobcats came back to down Kearsley, 80-47. Flushing Raiders edged 'Cats, 69-65. Bobcats trounced on Owosso twice, 94-74 and 74-68. Mt. Morris taken twice by GB, 94-76 and 72-69. GB climbed over Clio, 91-76. A come from behind, the 'Cats took Beecher in overtime, 68-65, a little easier win second time, 86-74. A hard fought battle earned GB win over Davison, 62-57. A basket in the last 3 seconds chalked up another victory over Kearsley, 57-55. Big game, GB vs. Flushing, GB killed Flushing, 93-73 to take possession of #1 spot. Carman added another win for the 'Cats in overtime, 88-86. Clio came back and stunned the 'Cats, 78-69. Last league game against Davison, a fight for the title, Cardinals upset GB, 66-65. Southwestern downed 'Cats in tournament play, 79-56. Some disappointments but Coach Creasey well pleased with a very successful season

J.V.'s dominate league with 14 game winning streak.

Under Coaches Moore and Weadock, freshmen and sophomores practiced in order to begin climb for varsity team. Excelling in hustle and desire, JVs won league championship. Team established five team records in most FGA, 1363; most FGM, 486, most points, 1239; highest average, 77.9, and the longest winning streak with 14 games. Co-captain Steve Dunkelberg, Mike Hogan, Jim Steffen and freshman Bob Francis cited as outstanding players. Highlights of the season included 73-71 overtime win against Flushing and 31-2 quarter in Beecher encounter.

Under co-captain Ron Schmidt, with toughest competition from Beecher Dolan, freshmen posted 8-2 season record. Bobcats scored first victory in four years over Owosso. Against Flushing, the offensive unit scored 32 points in the fourth quarter in 86-64 victory. Dan Smith, Randy Gricius, Terry Maxwell and Schmidt showed strength and ability for the teams to come.

Junior's "I Remember Mama" entrances audience with humor

Lines memorized over Easter vacation for junior play "I Remember Mama."

Two leading roles; Katrin, Mary Lynn Masla and Mama, Nancy Yenshaw

Timid Bob Pappenheimer and sleepy Marlene Letterman stole show with outstanding performances. Mice ran around auditorium while tranquilized cat lay sleeping

Thimble fingered seamstresses sewed ripped curtain before opening night

Junior cast included one freshman for part of small boy. Audience response to humorous lines assured Director Miss Eileen Wilkinson. Student Director Cindy Warger, and Production Assistant Carolyn Steffen, play was success. Hectic stage crew had limited time to get broom closet on while dishes clattered backstage. Clumsy Soda Jerk almost lost tray with soda on Katrin's lap. Sincere speech on third night given by Tom Myers to thank Miss Wilkinson for directing successful play.

9 seniors experience intrigue of foreign lands

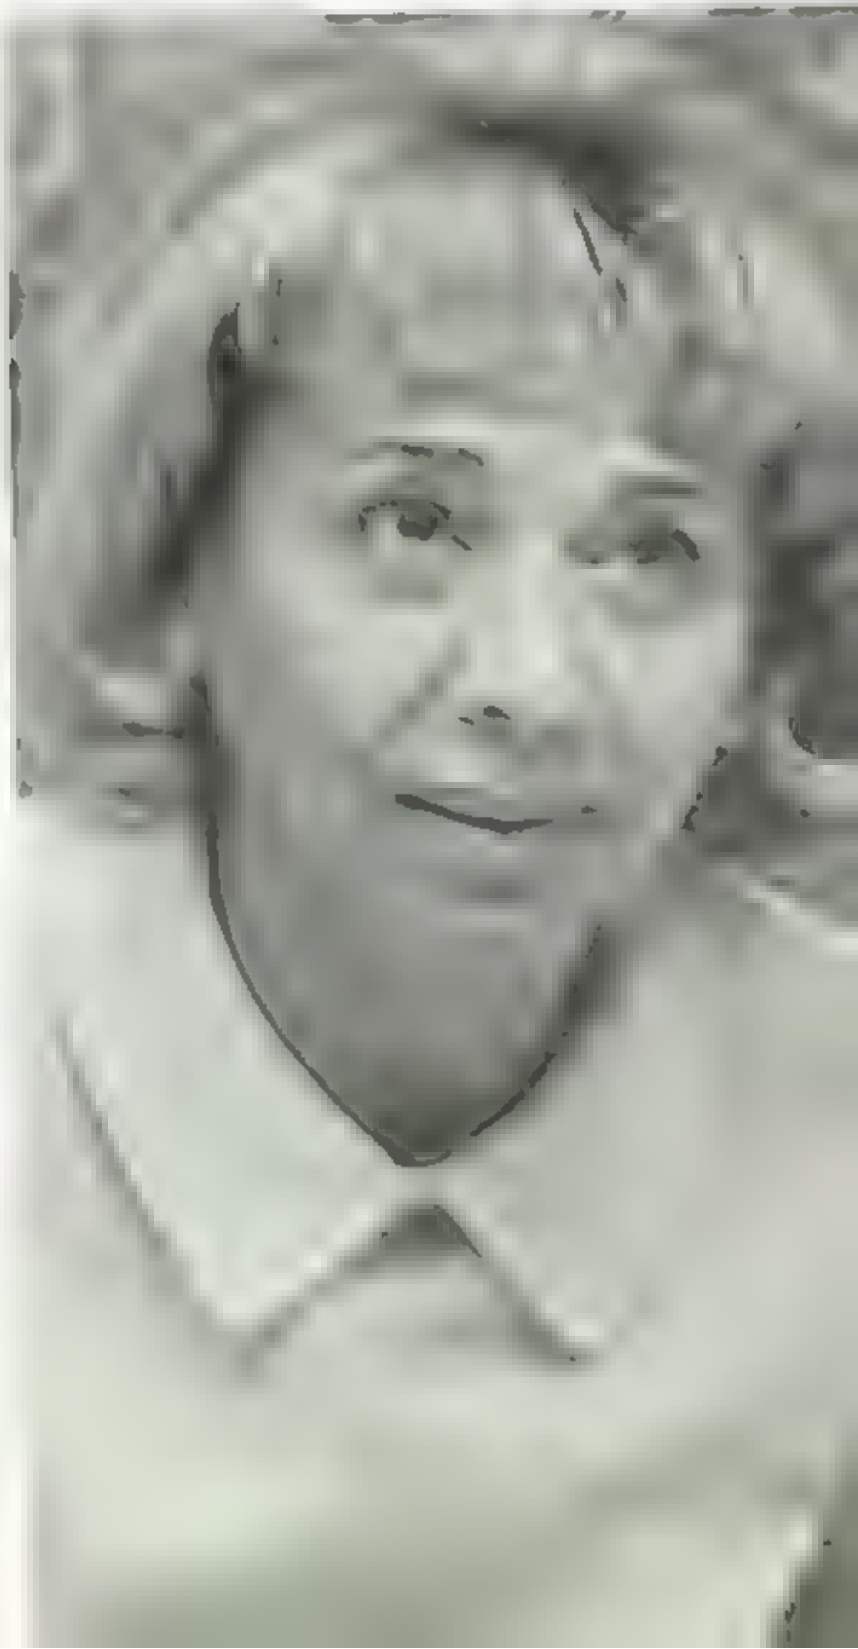

Intrigue of foreign lands experienced by nine seniors during summer vacation through Youth for Understanding program. Participants included: Dennis Aho, Finland; Jim Anderson, Sweden; Becky Barrell, Sweden; Kathy Carroll, Denmark; Rosemary Gemmill, Chile; Jeff Hassberger, Germany; Terry McIntyre, Finland; Mary Waters, Argentina; Jay Wilkinson, Uruguay. Each spent approximately two months in a foreign country learning language and various customs. Parties, discotheques, soccer games, sailing, and sight-seeing entertained students, while chores such as hoeing sugar beets, haying, milking cows, packing tomatoes helped keep them busy. Students lived in foreign homes, attended foreign schools yet found language very small barrier. Returning home with mixed emotions, all nine agreed trips were unforgettable experiences.

GB Summer Workshop Program studies community resources

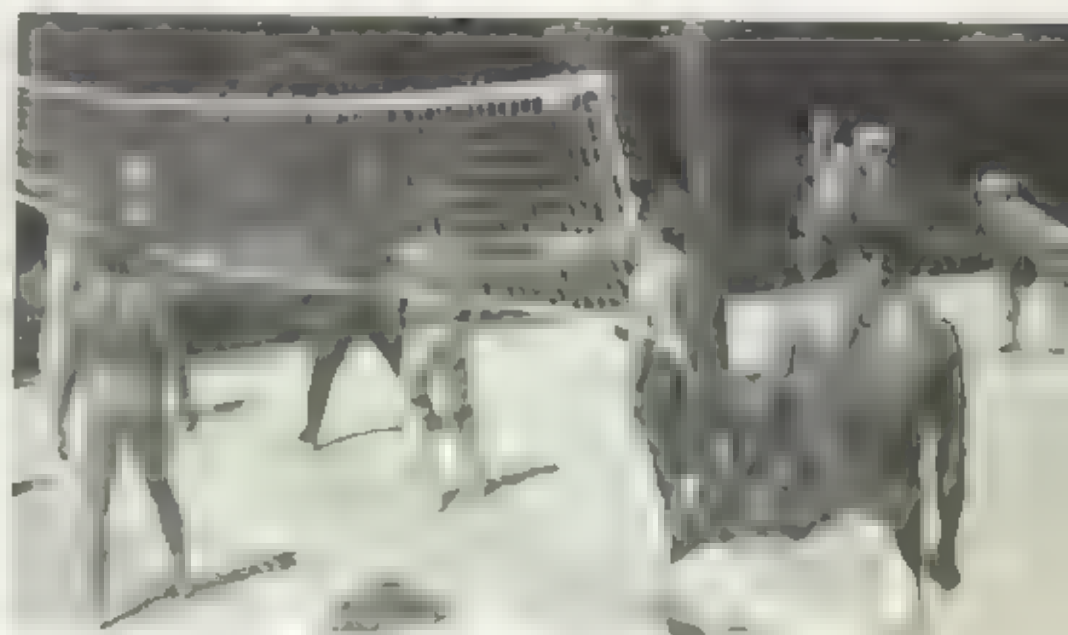

GBHS students flocked to Castaway camp, sponsored by the Pipe, to enjoy active games, skiing, sailing, and feel closer to Christ. Sponsored by Student Council, registration; for new students, a time to become familiar with the building; for old, a chance to assure graduation requirements. Bewildered freshmen roamed aimlessly down dark halls; big-shot seniors misdirected them. Four week summer workshop offered to teachers by MSU in order to acquaint them with the use of community resources in teaching. Teachers, just as students, had active summers.

Two sets of duplicate dresses, scratched records, and forgotten speeches, all part of successful Queen's Assembly. Speeches cut short because of six candidates . . . included everything from horse manure to sex.

1969-70 Homecoming Queen, Debbie Young, gave farewell speech to students.

Master of Ceremonies, Andy Sekora, introduced each candidate to the audience; quivering voices echoed throughout the auditorium; Six beautiful girls, all worthy of the crown. Capacity crowd swelled gym as student body cheered on their teams during fourth annual Interclass Games. Mr. Anderson, Burke, Creasy, and Griffith served as judges . . . a risky undertaking when tempers rose.

Ticket sales, hindered by snowstorm resulted in 300 dollar loss by class of '71, with approximately 700 students attending.

After an hour of sounds by the Joyspring, students turned their attention to opposite bandstand. Heavy sounds of rock and roll, pounding of drums filled the air, as Dick Wagner and the Frost answered the cheers of the crowd. Two hours of Joyspring and one of Frost combined for a "great" evening.

G. B. generosity results in merrier Christmas for needy

Sponsored by Spanish Club and under the direction of Chairman Nancy Stermer, four foreign language clubs gathered for the annual International Banquet, held to celebrate the Christmas season. Each club decorated a corner of the cafeteria to resemble the country they studied. Activities included presentations by the various clubs, among which were Christmas carols by Latin Club and a unique can-can dance by the French Club.

Students, parents, and teachers feasted on a variety of foreign dishes contributed by club members. Entertainment by Chamber Choir interrupted by falling decorations. Banner staff once again gathered food, toys, and clothing for over 35 needy families in Genessee County area, during traditional Christmas Basket project. Throughout the two week period, 80 GBHS classes participated in the project resulting in a merrier Christmas for many. Grand Blanc Police Department and volunteers assisted in delivering packages. Generosity of 2,600 students proved Santa exists.

Voices quivered and hands trembled as frightened girls selected their dates for traditional Sadie Hawkins Week, February 15-20. Sponsored by Student Council, the week opened Monday morning with tag day. Girls searched halls for finding boyfriends as they attempted to pin their dates with red felt tags made to resemble farm animals.

Cookies, brownies, cakes and pickled pigs feet devoured by hungry boys on Tuesday, snack day. Wednesday brought slave day when girls suffered under the rule of their masters, carrying books and opening doors. Crazy gift day showered boys with dolls, turtles, goldfish and live roosters. Boys blushed as girls presented them with corsages and garlands of flowers; fudge, suckers and candy bars satisfied the sweet tooth on Friday, candy and flowers day.

G.B. auditorium scene of intrigue and murder

Weeks of hard work, fun, and repetition of scenes made actors and actresses out of 13 members of the junior class. Lines memorized over Christmas vacation and daily rehearsals perfected the presentation of the thrilling murder mystery "Ten Little Indians," by Agatha Christie. Director Miss Kay Snuffer assisted by student directors Julie Parks and Lea Higgins. Individual analysis with director aided students in successful portrayals of ten murder victims stranded together on an island. Outstanding performances by Noeleta O'Dea as a sophisticated secretary, Dave Winton as a carefree adventurer, and Bill Leonhardt as an obnoxious detective received favorable audience response. Quantity and quality of talent easily overcame difficulty of working with 11 actors on stage at one time. Quick witted Dave Winton managed to ad lib new lines when in a crucial scene, the gun failed to fire. Set and make-up crews praised for tremendous contributions. Skeptical teachers and students eat words as 206 arrives

After a semester of promises, 206 finally arrived. Skeptical teachers and students were surprised to find that the student store actually existed. Managed by business students, the store sells books, school supplies, gifts, jewelry, and has plans for selling sportswear.

Lack of student enthusiasm resulted in fewer pep assemblies this year. Cheerleaders lead half-filled bleachers in victory cheers, with those in attendance showing support for the Bobcats. Varsity cheerleaders performed humorous skits while pep band supplied Grand Blanc victory song. 90 sophomores, juniors, and seniors selected by teachers for induction into National Honor Society. Students were selected on basis of scholarship, leadership, service and citizenship. Embarrassed inductees were escorted to bleachers and saluted old members in the halls. Mr. Bud Beckman addressed students and parents at Induction about "The Crossroads of Life."

Inductees received cards, roses, and pins. Refreshments were served afterwards at a tea.

Serendipity, ski trips highlight "Pipe's" activities

Every Saturday and Sunday evening, for one hour, area teens of all walks of life and all denominations flocked to the Pipe in downtown Flint for songs, skits, and serious discussions. Directed by Bud Beekman and a dedicated staff of high school and college students, the Pipe helped teens relate Christianity to their daily lives.

Skits and songs by high school students brought howls of laughter while talks by Bud Beekman brought a more solemn response.

Kidnap nights recruited newcomers who immediately felt welcome.

The Serendipity Trip to Washington D. C., the Ski Trip to Traverse City, and trips to football games at the University of Michigan highlighted the school year, while Castaway Youth Camp in Minnesota and Frontier Youth Camp in Colorado helped occupy the summer months.

The Pipe aided in filling the sometimes vacant and lonely lives of many teens.

Foreign exchange students maintain busy schedules

Growing accustomed to American traditions and manners was an easy task for three Foreign exchange students visiting Grand Blanc High. First semester, Pirkko Jartia, from Helsinki, Finland livened the halls. Pirkko found American parents more strict than those of her country. Pirkko aided the senior victory in the Porker Bowl and proved to be an outstanding football player. Junior Dirk Agena found little difference between his home.

Noden Germany, and Grand Blanc. Between dates, a job at Grand Blanc Golf Club, and duties as a Student Council member, Dirk maintained a busy schedule. Light show provides funds for science club members Science Club designed, constructed light show to raise money for treasury. Ingenious members incorporated movie slide projector, drip old paint water color tanks, stroboscopes, into exciting addition to local dances. Combination created unique patterns on walls as rock bands blared in background. Club planned science fair for GB, determined division of money for future trips. Mr. Werner Maki, Mr. Maynard Baer advised group. Radio Club, under Mr. Dudley Place, introduced students to electronic theory, instructed members in use of equipment. Members worked toward acquisition of operator's license.

Intramural program expands, improves

Under direction of Mr. Bob Tartoni, Grand Blanc intramural program improved, expanded. Billiards, hockey, bowling, jarts, model building added to program of football, baseball, swimming. Candy sold to pay for hockey program. Under Mr. Gil Misner, Campus Life stressed social, physical, mental, spiritual development. An Inter-denominational group, it focused on fun and study. Highlight of year, a canoe trip down Muskegon River. Thursday and Saturday meetings held in homes around Grand Blanc.

Thespians produce first variety show

Thespian Troupe sought to honor outstanding high school actors and actresses. Fifteen points in drama productions required for induction. "Winter Wonderland," new variety show, produced. Under direction of Miss Eileen Wilkinson, group produced "Madwoman of Chaillot." Skits given before elderly at Clara Barton Nursing Home as good will gesture. Trip to drama performance at Fisher Theatre in Detroit capped off year.

“Exhaust ‘em Bobcats” takes surprising second for sophs

Developing status, sophomores electrified crowd with announcement of second place Homecoming float “Exhaust ‘em Bobcats.” Theme built around Disney’s “Love Bug.” Limited space in barn forced students to be asked to leave due to large turnouts.

Boys tug-of-war team anchored by Mead Featherstone upset juniors. Class shouted approval to “Amiba.”

Nancy Ward headed 27 Steering Committee members in amending constitution, sponsoring basketball victory dance with the Amazing Pelicans, selling Bobcat pennants, pins for Homecoming funds.

Mr. Terry Coleman, Miss Rose Husted, silent sponsors, allowed students to build on plans Committee prepared design for class rings to be used for the next three years. Orders taken in January for spring delivery.

Spring plans included possible mini bike races to increase treasury.

This year’s goal: money reserved for junior-senior activities and graduation in ’73.

Boys escort girls — serve at Junior-Senior Prom

Juniors made their presence felt in the wee hours of the morning, boasted first place Homecoming float, "Waltz 'em Dizzy," Banner trophy. A rude awakening for the seniors. A trio of sponsors, Mr. Maynard Baer, Miss Celia Ebert, Mr. Stephen Holmes sat back as Tom Brainard conducted Thursday night Steering Committee meetings. Five committees congregated to express ideas, relate findings, amend constitution. Other officers, Cathy Finn, Bill Pascoe, Julie Parks led the class in sale of pom poms as first money raising project. Dance with the Aark and junior play followed. Step up from sophomores to juniors permitted more contact with seniors; girls in Porker Bowl, boys in Scrapper Bowl. Junior-senior cotillion molded by joint executive committees. Gary Telling presented initial idea for consideration. A remembrance of the class of '72 given to the school, an intercom for the auditorium extending from stage to projection room. The first step toward becoming seniors.

Seniors raise $600 for cancer fund

A tradition established, for three consecutive years a third place Homecoming float, this year "Fantasia" disappointed seniors. First place in Interclass games offered limited consolation. Steering Committee led by Mike Flore, Marla Plew planned Christmas Dance featuring the Frost. Winter weather resulted in loss of money. Concession stand netted funds for year's activities. Beauty and beast contest collected funds for cancer in honor of Walt Disney.

Senior honors bestowed on Four Outstanding Teens: Brochu, Gerard, Nemesi, Povlick. Leadership awards presented to Brochu, Chavey by Elks Club, DAR citizenship award went to Nemesi.

Academically, Blom, Nemesi finalists in National Merit Scholarship test.

BODY BY FISHER

GRAND-BLANC PLANT

DIVISION OF GENERAL MOTORS

Our Goal: Clean Air and Water

Probably no movement in our nation's history has gained momentum as rapidly as that dealing with environmental pollution. The Fisher Body Grand Blanc Plant has just completed the clean water facility pictured at the right as part of our efforts to maintain a leadership role in the elimination of air and water pollution.

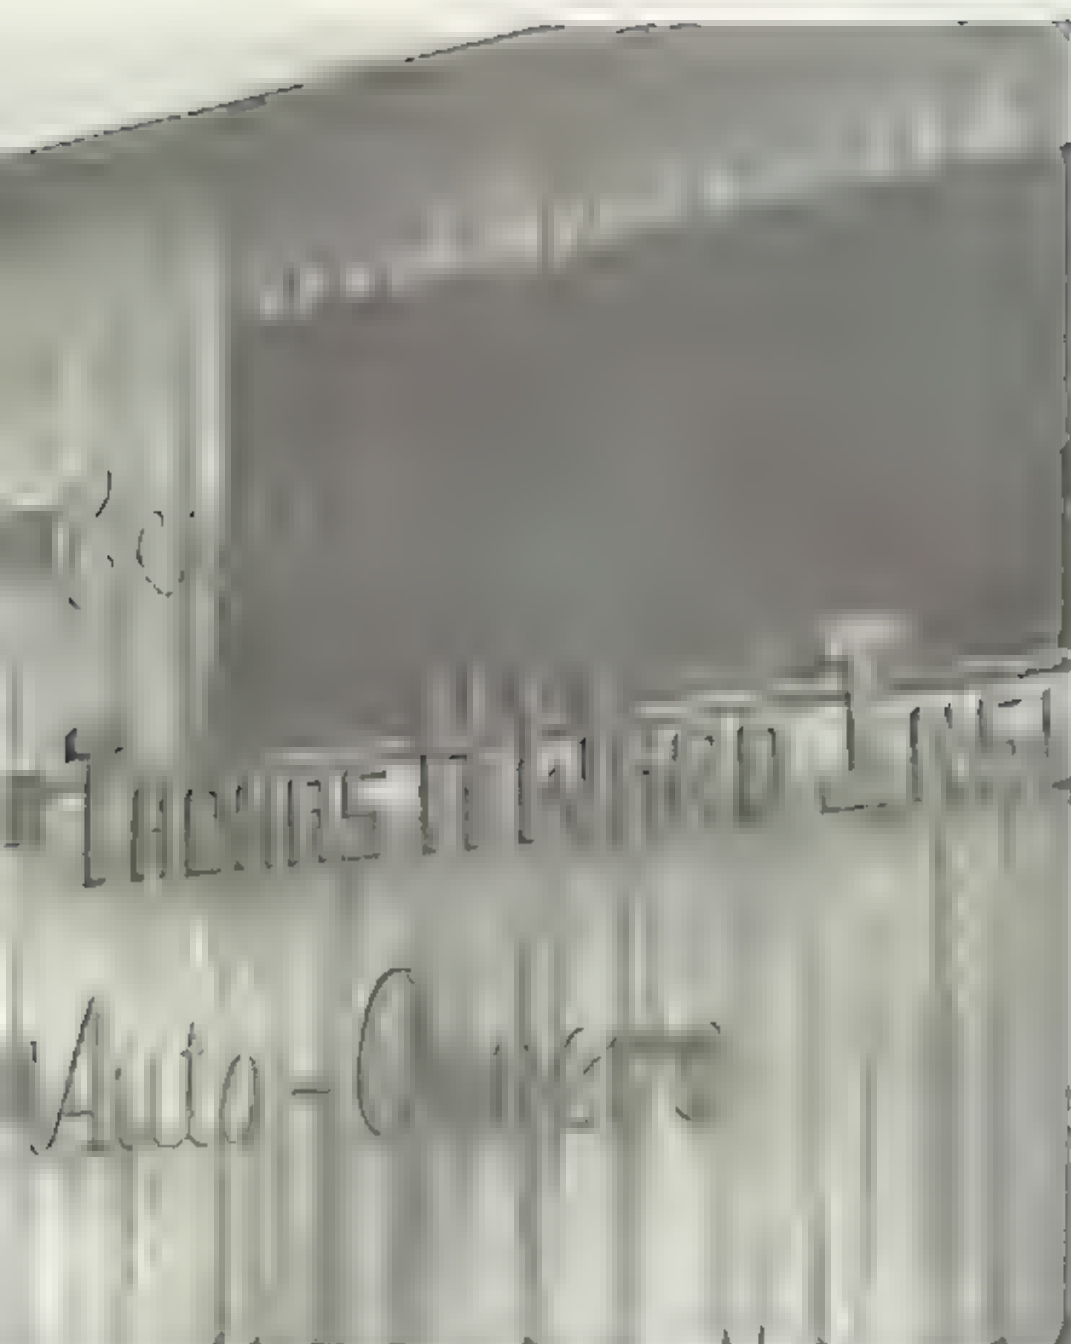

ABOVE: clean water facility at Fisher Body, Grand Blanc. Only water from the plant's industrial drains is collected and clarified in the large tanks (foreground). Contaminants removed from water will be stored, for later disposal, in the small tanks adjacent to the two-story water treatment control building.

Echo phenomenons and follies
 Last deadline forced 128 pages on staff;
 completed in less than two weeks
 Late hours of the night — chicken soup and whoppers for dinner

New advisor, Mr. Dennis Dunlavey, learned G.B. techniques from co-editors Theresa Erickson and Carolyn Steffen;
 later became expert

Grand Blanc News — hero of the day, when frosh head and shoulders photographers failed. Mr. George Sharley, Baldwin-Chase photographer; on the minute coverage.

Perfect Cindy Mohan's modesty.

Jeff Higgins' sick errah jokes.

Fruity Janny Bananna Laird's thousand and one "riplicates."

Faith Schniers wall to wall ears

Carolyn Steffen's "sole" boots.

Theresa Erickson's Sadie problems.

Mr. Dunlavey's lemon smile.

Reliable sophomores always on the job

Saturday sessions, theft of irreplaceable pictures, all added to satisfaction of finished job

Monsieur Young

As seekers of knowledge, we look to the world with respect.

We begin to fade slowly away from home —
to become an individual

We reach out and take the hand of a child longing to be loved.

We recollect our noble deeds in time of depression; release tension through tears.

We hear the foot of time falling softly,
paving the way for reality

We now see hope as the many faces of man, looking to the future for the eternal flame.

We have conquered knowledge, community improvement, friendship, peace, and understanding, and yet . . .

We Reach out for . . .

Peggy,
 You're a kind person with a lot of understanding of other people. Good Luck!
 Chris Carter

Peggy,
 We been a long time but it's been fun. Take care of Jack and the good.
 Well we see you around so take care.
 Peter
 Danny
 Gaby

To Peggy,
 So really great knowing that I get to meet you and we had a lot of fun together. Remember our fun times in gym
 Maybe I'll see you at Big Bay this summer.
 Love you
 Gaby

"Hill Country"
 I hope you're doing well. I hope you're happy. I hope you're healthy. I hope you're successful. I hope you're loved. I hope you're everything you want to be. I hope you're everything you need to be. I hope
 you're everything you deserve to be. I hope
 you're everything you can be. I hope you're everything you are.
